Product Details

Summary

Cut level 5 resistant liner provides excellent protection against blade and point hazards. Made from Kevlar, it is not only cut resistant but is also provides low level contact heat protection. The breathable and flexible liner provides better comfort and fit than other stiffer alternatives. A superior option for glazing and sheet metal applications where forearm protection is a priority. The sleeve can be laundered at 40° water temperature increasing the products life and cycle rate. Thumb hole version provides better palm and wrist protection and restricts the sleeve from sliding up the forearm.
